

Brevity

To write a poem on brevity

Few words are a necessity

The silence when words uttered cease

Is to reside in perfect peace

It's such a relief to be brief

They say brevity is the soul of wit

Unknown to garrulous ones I admit

The use of fewer words to be concise

Is the best advice to be so precise

When life's span we need to exceed

Life deceives us, to be so brief

To Dearth's approach, we must proceed

Life's release, we become decease
