

Referendum Result 24th June 2016 @ 7.30am.

Good morning, good morning;
Will there ever be another one?
What have we done, what have we done?
Votes taken cannot be undone.
An undiscovered Country have we become.
Dismay and despair to overcome.
Cameron had embarked on a foolish course
To fill our nation with such remorse.

God help every mother's son
Begging for a bun or just a crumb.
And daughters too, shall they be shunned?
How then can they become good mums?
The sun that never sets has become the setting sun.
Should London declare independence too?
And vote with Scotland to remain in the EU.

Frank Waller. this day.

A brief history of "Brexit" in five poems that I have written over the years on the subject from this one at the onset of the result of the referendum to the Tory Leadership election more than three years later, and it is still not over. A very slow descent into the pit of despair.

1. Referendum Result 24th June 2016
- 2, Frank's Soliloquy on the 2017 General Election. 9th June 2017
3. Teresa May (Blunder Woman) 12th December 2018
4. The End of the "Brexit" Road. 8th January 2019
5. The Tory Leadership Election 12 July 2019